

CURRENTLY HIRING VIDEO EDITOR

Viscul Creative is looking for a full-time video editor to bring fresh concepts and strategic thinking to collaborative projects for our clients.

As a video editor, you'll be responsible for the creation and development of multimedia for customer stories -collaborating with the Viscul team to storyboard, plan, facilitate, and edit video footage. In addition, this position is responsible for editing video projects, organizing raw media, editing footage and sound files, and managing distribution.

We are a small, but growing team in an open work space, so it's important that you enjoy working closely with other talented creative folks.

If you're looking to hone your craft in a fast-paced, story-centric studio environment, apply today.

ARE YOU...

- passionate about story with a keen eye and ear for characters and story lines
- familiar with current trends and best practices for both media and social platforms
- proficient with Adobe Premiere Pro and After Effects and skilled in lighting and production equipment
- multi-tasker who is able to prioritize & manage work, adhering to critical project time lines in a fast-paced and deadline driven environment
- extremely detail-oriented with the ability to identify & correct mistakes
- natural leader comfortable with a high degree of ownership & accountability
- skilled in presenting to clients & receiving feedback
- self-starter who is internally driven to make things better, exceed expectations, & actively collaborate with others

YOU WILL...

- play an integral role in productions that will support larger brand and marketing campaigns
- conceptualize and produce on-brand solutions through new ideas & innovative thinking in order to build conversations & increase brand awareness
- show a proven ability to marry strategy & video implementation
- communicate conceptual thinking to a non-experienced audience; able to listen & take art direction well
- provide high-touch, personable & professional customer service to our client base
- perform additional responsibilities as operations may require in achieving business objectives

Candidate must have two or more years of professional video production experience and a history of successful cross-team collaboration. If this sounds like you, please email info@visculcreative.com with your cover letter, resume, three references, and video reel.

You will receive a follow up email confirming that we have received your application materials. Only those most qualified will be contacted for next steps.
